

Brent Hines

Founder and Executive Director
Foundation for Financial Wellness
Parker, Colorado

Brent Hines is an international speaker, financial well-being expert, and founder and executive director of the educational nonprofit, Foundation for Financial Wellness (FFW). With over 25 years of unwavering dedication to the finance and wellness industry, he has widely been considered as a trailblazer, advocating for high industry standards for financial well-being and individual empowerment. Brent's leadership at FFW has been instrumental in driving organizational growth and propelling the mission of enhancing financial well-being on a global scale. A master speaker and presenter, he possesses a unique talent for translating complex concepts into accessible knowledge that resonates with diverse audiences, igniting action and driving meaningful results.