

Ron Krupa, CEBS, CEBS Compliant, GPHR

Benefits Consultant

WTW

Bradenton, Florida

Ron Krupa is a benefits consultant with WTW, a leading global benefits consulting firm. Krupa has more than 30 years of experience across many aspects of employee benefits and human resources, including employee engagement and communications, benefits administration and outsourcing, learning and development, third-party administration, global benefits and ACA reporting. He has worked with large and complex clients across the country. Additionally, Krupa has written several articles for benefits publications and has been a featured speaker on webcasts and at benefits conferences. Krupa holds a bachelor's degree in mathematics from Ithaca College and a master's degree in secondary education from the University of Pennsylvania. He also holds his Certified Employee Benefit Specialist® (CEBS®) designation from the International Foundation of Employee Benefit Plans and is CEBS Compliant. He has served on the CEBS committee and as an officer of the Greater Philadelphia and the Tampa Bay Area chapters of ISCEBS. He was the 2015 president of the ISCEBS Governing Council and continues to be active with both organizations. In addition, Krupa has a Florida Life and Health license and a Global Professional in Human Resources® (GPHR®) certification from HRCI. In 2024, Krupa was inducted into the ISCEBS Hall of Fame.